CORRECTIVE BODY TREATMENTS

CoolSculpting

The ground-breaking CoolSculpting technology uses a patented cooling process to target and eliminate fat cells, without surgery, needles, or downtime. This procedure is highly effective in targeting fat cells without damaging other cells and tissue. Request a free consultation to discuss your options and pricing.

Sclerotherapy

Asclera is a prescription medicine that is used in a procedure called sclerotherapy to treat two types of veins in your legs.

- Uncomplicated spider veins

- Uncomplicated small varicose veins known as reticular veins

Asclera is a sclerosing agent that is injected into the vein. It works by damaging the inside lining of blood vessels, causing blood platelets and cellular debris to attach to the lining of the vessels. Eventually, cellular debris and platelets cause the blood vessel to clot. Over time, the clotted vein will be replaced with tissue. Request a consultation to discuss pricing.
